Unification Of Rail Systems Is C.P.R. Proposal

E. W. Beatty, Saying Waste Inevitable Even in Good Times, Suggests That in Place of Competition, C.P.R. and C.N.R. Be Jointly Operated and Net Earnings Be Divided

No Change In Lines' Ownership

Canadian Press
Montreal, May 2.—Unification was the only adequate solution of Canada's railway problem, E. W. Beatty, K.C., told shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at their annual meeting here to-day in his presidential address.

Mr. Beatty said the railway situation in Canada was unclouded and in good times as well as in bad involved economic waste of millions of dollars a year. He said it was idle to lay the blame on governments or parliaments. They must view the situation in the light of present day experience and conditions and their conception of the future of transportation in the country.

New forms of competition had arisen which occupied a useful place in the transportation system of the country. The public interest required the limits of their place in that system should be ascertained and their operations and tariffs controlled in the same manner as the railways. He thought the railway situation should be fortified to meet new conditions and ensure the solvency of the private company and the nation.

QUESTION OF POLITICS
The proponents of the present competitive system between the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways, said Mr. Beatty, asserted an equal or at least a sufficient economy which could be effected by co-operation between the two companies, but it must be patent this could not be so. They asserted also politics did not enter into the administration of the government system or political considerations into a solution of the problem.

"While I would not like to believe that to be true, I have heard graphic assurances of the same character made during the past years and (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

McGeer Gives Four Point Credit Plan

Government Control of Currency, Commerce and International Exchange, With Taxes to Prevent Inflation Is Proposal of Vancouver M.P.P. Before Commons Banking Committee in Ottawa

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 2.—With a large anti-colored chart to assist him, Gerald G. McGeer, K.C., M.P.P., Vancouver economist, set before the Commons banking and commerce committee yesterday afternoon his "four-point" plan for social credit.

The four points were:

- 1.—Establishment of a national bank to control issue of currency and monetization of credit.
- 2.—Establishment of a department of taxation which would guard against accumulation of currency and credit in the hands of a few.
- 3.—A department of trade and commerce to control commercial intercourse.
- 4.—A department of foreign trade to control international exchange of commerce, currency and credit.

He planned again into a criticism of the present banking system which he had scored for three hours during the morning session, quoting extensively from the Macmillan report.

Where Nature's Beauty Has Been Improved Upon

Many fine residences have been erected in the last few years on North Quadra Street and the rocks and oak trees there have been worked into landscape scenes which baffle description. In the above picture is shown the garden which has been developed by the hands of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jordan, 3367 North Quadra Street. Rockeries, pools, paths and lawns have been laid out and arbors, and seats have been constructed.

Morning Singing Draws Big Crowd; Sopranos Praised

Over 600 Attend Festival Events at First United; Miss F. Spencer and Edward Hulford Among Winners

AN unusually large morning crowd, over 600, attended the second morning session of the Victoria Musical Festival in First United Church to-day. There was also a good attendance for the two piano classes in First Baptist Church.

The reason for the interest at First United was the attractive nature of the programme, which included the grade A soprano competition and events for mezzo-soprano vocal solo, grade B, and soprano contralto vocal duet, as well as the boys under twelve vocal solo event.

FREDA SPENCER WINS
Two of the three first prizes for the senior classes were taken across the boundary to Tacoma, but to Miss Freda Spencer of Victoria went the high honor of victory in the open soprano class, with one of the Tacoma entries competing.

Praise that truly was noteworthy was showered on these soprano singers by Dr. Percy Hull of England, adjudicator-in-chief. "We really touched a high spot in this class," he said. The two top places, the Purcell Evening Hymn and the Bach "On Yes, Just So," he described as particularly difficult, but he felt that the contestants had handled the songs with great credit to themselves.

Miss Spencer, the winner, received 174 marks for the two songs, while Miss Janet Hay, also of the city, and Mrs. Roy T. Brumbaugh of Tacoma were each a mark behind.

U.S. VICTORY
Miss Brumbaugh, however, singing with Miss Margaret Myles of Tacoma won by a substantial margin in the vocal duet open class, with Miss Sylvia Coffey of this class.

Demands Deficit Be Cut To Million Dollars; No Money For Work and Wages

TRIO CHEATS DEATH IN CAR

Sgt. J. Kemp, P.P.C.L.I., Injured in Island Highway Accident

Sgt. John Kemp, P.P.C.L.I., Work Point Barracks, was severely injured, and two other persons narrowly escaped death when a car left the Island Highway and crashed into a telephone pole at 6 o'clock this morning.

Sgt. Kemp received head and extensive leg injuries. A woman passenger was cut about the face. The driver was shaken up.

Leslie Green, Quarter Cab taxi driver, was driving, and police were told the name of the third passenger was Miss Bobby Bruce. Sgt. Kemp is now in the Jubilee Hospital. Miss Bruce was treated at city police headquarters.

According to the police, the car was proceeding towards the city and left the road at the curve between the bottom of Four Mile Hill and Craigflower Bridge. It travelled 250 feet along the side of the road and crashed into a telephone pole. The report says the pole was shifted fourteen inches in the ground and broken off about two feet above the surface.

The car was badly wrecked in front by the impact. After hitting the pole it swerved to the left and came to rest against a fence on the property line.

When Provincial Constables H. P. Hughes and A. G. Carmichael arrived on the scene shortly after 6 o'clock, Sgt. Kemp had been taken to the military hospital at Work Point and Miss Bruce was removed to the police station by passing motorist. Sgt. Kemp was later ordered taken to the Jubilee, where it was reported he had a deep cut seven inches long below the right knee.

BI-METALLIC PLAN FOR U.S.

Washington, May 2.—President Roosevelt is working on his announced policy for a United States bi-metallic money standard, but the White House maintained the strictest silence to-day on the next moves in this direction.

In them he has definitely proposed silver share with gold as a money base.

COMMITTEE ON WORK CHOSEN

Acting Mayor P. R. Brown Names Group to Meet Real Estate Board and Chamber

Acting Mayor P. R. Brown to-day named a committee of Mayor David Leeming, Aldermen R. A. C. Dewar, Aldermen John A. Worthington and himself to meet members of the Real Estate Board and a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce to consider works suitable for recommendation to federal authorities for proposed construction projects in the city.

The council had been asked to name three representatives to meet with the other two organizations on the matter, but the acting mayor included four names in case Mayor Leeming, at present out of town, was not in the city when the committee was called.

Commenting on possible work, Mr. Brown stated he believed the city would favor a scheme which would provide the maximum of work for men on relief and require little in the form of materials.

Regarding the scheme advanced for the construction of a new City Hall under the plan, he stated such an undertaking would require an expenditure of about 60 per cent of the total costs in materials which would have to be paid by the taxpayers.

"I don't know if any of us is prepared to take that course," he added on behalf of the council, noting the present attitude toward taxation.

PIER ISLAND APPEAL LOST

Compensation For Doukhobor Jail Lands Remains at $1,400 Per Year

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 2.—Claims against the Dominion Government for increased compensation by the owners of Pier Island, temporary penitentiary for 600 Doukhobors incarcerated for staging nude parades, were dismissed to-day by the Supreme Court of Canada. Decision was reversed on the question of costs.

Chief Justice Duff announced the court's decision of dismissal following the arguments of Cornelius H. O'Halloran, Victoria, trustee for the Col. J. S. Harvey estate, owners of the island north of the Saanich Peninsula, expropriated by the government in 1932.

The court dismissed the case without hearing Lindsey Crease, K.C., Victoria, counsel for the Dominion. "It is not necessary for any oral arguments in support of the government's case," said the Chief Justice. "Broadly speaking, determination of questions dealing with expropriation of land should be matters for the Exchequer Court."

Mr. Crease submitted the case was an unusual one, the first of its kind to originate in Canada, the expropriation of an island for a temporary penitentiary. The case set precedent, Mr. Crease said, and offered to submit further evidence of the government's position solely for purposes of record.

"That will not be necessary," Chief Justice Duff replied.

The owners of Pier Island asked $2,500 from the Dominion Government for the five-year term the government is occupying the property. This figure included timber rights. The Exchequer Court fixed compensation at $1,400 annually—$7,000 for the five years—with the question of compensation for timber cut to be deferred during the expropriation period.

Pole, French Captain and British Officer Arrested; Officials Say Organization Most Dangerous

Associated Press
Paris, May 2.—A far-flung organization of German spies, engaged in gathering vital frontier defense secrets, was said by police to-day to have been uncovered with the arrest of three agents of the band, including a French captain and a British army officer.

Stanislas Krouss, a Pole, was arrested in Paris by secret service agents who claimed to have caught him in the act of handing documents dealing with new frontier fortifications to an accomplice.

Disclosures by Krouss led to the arrest, police said, at Belfort, of a French officer, Captain "Rogee," who had been under suspicion for a long time.

Identity of the accomplice mentioned in connection with Krouss was not revealed, but it was indicated he is a British army officer engaged (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Premier Pattullo Informed Province Must Revamp Financial Programme Before Help From Ottawa May Be Expected

PATTULLO WILL EXPLAIN LATER

Province Sought Help With Promise to Reconstruct Finances; Unbalanced Budget, Relief Costs and Work Plans Were Factors

Premier Bennett to-day flatly rejected British Columbia's application for financial relief, according to information received by The Times this afternoon over the long distance telephone from its correspondent at Ottawa.

The Prime Minister refused to give B.C. any further assistance financially unless it revises its whole financial programme and draws up a new budget reducing the deficit to not more than $1,000,000.

The proposals for "work and wages" were turned down along with the other requests.

Premier Pattullo, The Times correspondent reported, will issue a full statement to-morrow as to the province's position and its future plans.

British Columbia asks Ottawa for something like $8,000,000 to cover the $2,800,000 deficit in the 1933-34 budget, to finance provincial relief, and to finance a programme of "work and wages" which was proposed earlier by John A. Gordon, Sloan, Attorney-General, arrived in the federal capital to submit the representations of the province.

NO TIME TO REVAMP
The argument made by the provincial government was that, as it had only been in office four months when the Legislature met, it had not had time to complete revamp the financial situation. When the government took control last November it found the finances in a deplorable state and the credit of the province practically ruined.

As it would take time to make the necessary revision of the structure, Mr. Hart put before the House a budget based almost entirely on the estimates submitted by the Minister of Finance in 1933, with the addition of some of the more pressing items, including hospital grants, which it was felt should be restored.

With this policy laid down, an appeal was then made to the federal government for the sums mentioned as the provincial government could carry this year and lay the foundation for a complete revamping of the structure. Mr. Hart assured the federal cabinet he would then be able to present a balanced budget in 1935.

OTTAWA OBJECTS
The first objection encountered from Ottawa was against the large deficit which the finance minister allowed in his budget, especially since the province had increased its expenditure (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6) via Holland and Miss Mona Bradford as the only other entrants. In adjudicating this class, Dr. Arthur Collingwood said the winners' singing of the second piece, "Come, Let Us All Go a-Maying," had been so good that he had been induced to award his highest mark of the festival to date for it—88. He pointed out that he was an Aberdonian and singing in his marking, and that therefore the 88 was doubly well-earned. Dr. Collingwood paid tribute to their unity and their thorough knowledge of their work.

INTERNATIONALISM

The mezzo-soprano grade B first prize also went to Tacoma, Miss Ida Bush being the winner. Of the nine entrants, Miss Isabelle Pike, Tacoma, second and Miss Connie Barlow third. Dr. Collingwood was not so sanguine about this class. He pointed out how necessary it was at the stage of most of these young singers not to strain their voices in the slightest. He also stressed what Plunkett Greene said at previous festivals, the need for precise vowels and consonants. "A good singer has no throat," he said. Dr. Collingwood mentioned the fact of the two victories by United States competitors and said he was glad to see it. It was at such festivals and in such a way that a real international rapprochement was secured.

FUN ENJOYED

Plenty of fun was had by Dr. Hull and the audience when it came to adjudicating the first event on the programme, for boy vocal soloists under twelve. Edward Hulford secured first place with 86, and Ronald MacDonald and Earl Morrison were tied for second place with 86.

The youngest competitor in this class was just six years old. Dr. Hull got all the sixteen boys up on the platform afterward and asked them what marks they expected. One said, "none," another said "some," and still another "a hundred." He then asked them if any had no teeth, and one boy shyly but erroneously held up his hand.

PIANO WINNERS

T. F. Dunhill also seemed to be well pleased with the two pianoforte classes he adjudicated in First Baptist Church. In the preparatory pianoforte duet event, Alice Ashford and Phyllis Corbett, the winners, secured 90 marks for their playing of "The Tin Soldier" (Kjephson), and Griffith Cameron was given 89 marks in the primary boy's solo.

FIRST SCHOOL CHOIRS HEARD

Spring Ridge, North Ward and Margaret Jenkins Win Grade School Events

Four school choir classes and one for children's duets were adjudicated by Dr. Percy Hull and Dr. Arthur Collingwood on the afternoon's programme of the Victoria Musical Society at First United Church yesterday. It is at such times as this that the spectator realizes those who get the most fun out of the festival, and for whom the festival is the greatest benefit, are the children. Certainly children's programmes are marked by the most enthusiasm and enjoyment.

Margaret Jenkins School won the competition for grade one choirs, Spring Ridge coming second, but the winning mark was not so high as that for grade two choirs in the next class, and the David Spencer Ltd. Challenge Shield for the best in the two classes again went to last year's champion, Spring Ridge School.

North Ward School, with 173 marks for the two test pieces, were far ahead of the field in the grade three choirs class. Oaklands came second.

St. Margaret's School lost the Pendergast Challenge Shield to the Victoria High School in the class for junior choirs of not less than twenty-five voices, the Victoria School of Expression coming second. The closeness of the competition is indicated by the three marks—169, 168, 167.

The John Ireland arrangement of "Full Fathom Five" proved a popular test piece for the double-figure entry list in the duet class for girls, boys, or boy and girl. Under and under sixteen. Margaret Nash and Muriel Jarvis of Duncan were judged the best, and Constance Rowe and Kathleen Houghton second best. Reta Gaille and Anne Clemency Ord and Dorothy Davies and Leslie Clarke tied for third in this big class.

In his adjudication, Dr. Collingwood said he was very pleased so many young people were taking part and to see children of different nationalities in the choirs. This was concrete to a greater Canada, he thought. He stressed the benefit of school music to the general education of the young, pointing out that it was unsurpassed for developing healthy emotions and imagination. If the Dominion was to become really great, a start must be made in the schools.

During the afternoon Dr. Dunhill got away two additional piano classes in First Baptist Church. The piano preparatory class brought out forty entries. Helen Kent secured first mark of 89 for her outstanding performance of the test piece, "Haymakers' Dance" (Swinsford), Cecile Pagetti and Margaret Morris were tied for second with 87.

The pianoforte open class was, to say the least, disappointing. Of the five programmed entries, only three showed up, and of these one broke down after a promising start and another barely averaged over 70. The third, Beverly Morris, received 85 for Dohnanyi's "Rhapsody in G Major" and 83 for his own selection, a Schumann composition.

PREPAYMENTS KEEPING UP

Advance Payments of Taxes Above Those of 1932 But $50,000 Under 1933

Prepayment of taxes at the City Hall continued to keep ahead of 1932 figures, but lagged almost $50,000 behind those of 1933, figures for the first four months of the year revealed yesterday.

Up to the end of April this year, 1,601 tax payers had contributed $373,005 to their levies in advance against 1,710 prepaying $421,961 by that date in 1933. At the end of April, 1933, the sum of $972,968 had gone into the city treasury through that avenue.

Due to the smaller number meeting their taxes in advance and to a reduction in the interest rate allowable, the city owed those making prepayments $4,497 less than last year at this time, the figures being $12,275 for the first four months of 1934 against $16,772 for the same period in 1933.

ECONOMIES MADE

Speaking of the co-operation which has already been worked out between the two railways, Mr. Beatty said that, predicated as it was on the maintenance of competition between them, the field of co-operation had its limits. The company's officers had devoted constant effort in applying the principle in every branch where it was capable of being applied with advantage. Joint measures introduced had involved an estimated annual saving of $1,000,000. Many others were under consideration.

C.P.R. OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Increase in System's Earnings Dealt With at Annual Meeting in Montreal

Montreal, May 2—E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, addressing the shareholders at their annual meeting here to-day, dealt with the finances of the company. In expressing the regret felt by the directors that no dividends could be paid either on preference or ordinary stock in respect of 1933, he said it was felt to be in the best interests of the shareholders, notwithstanding their "natural disappointment." The financial resources of the company must be strictly conserved until earnings show a return to more normal figures, and a definite trend toward stability.

"I have mentioned the improvement in rail earnings since the beginning of the present year," he said. "The increase has been mainly in the earnings of your railways in Eastern Canada, a very peculiar sense the prosperity of this company depends on the prosperity of agriculture, and, therefore, of Western Canada, from which territory about 60 per cent of the freight earnings are derived. Obviously, therefore, improvement in conditions in the West is essential in order to justify the claim of general prosperity. I can only express the hope that the progress already made indicates the beginning of the general revival in industry and agriculture which we are all anxiously awaiting."

Mr. Beatty said that in 1928 working expenses amounted to $189,082.32, in 1933 at $243,407,582. Working expenses showed a total reduction of $95,620,750 or 51 per cent below 1928.

There were 236 per cent fewer rail passengers carried in 1933 than in 1928, but the average journey was longer. Passengers carried one mile decreased 4.81 per cent only. The volume of traffic would have been less had it not been for the policy of operating special coach excursions and maintaining low week-end and holiday fares.

$60,000,000 LOAN

"The principal change in the capital obligations of the company was the addition of $60,000,000 five-year notes sold to a syndicate of Canadian banks," said Mr. Beatty. "From the proceeds of these notes, the short term notes and other obligations maturing during the year were discharged."

"Notwithstanding the fact that very little capital expenditure has been made in the last two years, interest-bearing obligations of the company have increased due to the necessity for recouping the treasury for such expenditures in prior years. However, the capital of the company is still conservative and well balanced, for while the total assets at the end of the year amounted to $1,989,928,928, the capital obligations totaled $686,746,346."

$515,450.28 is interest bearing and the remainder of $472,256,921 is the capital stock of the company.

TRAFFIC INCREASES

"After several years of practically continuous decline, traffic returns towards the level of 1928. The corresponding periods of the previous year, this improvement has continued during the first quarter of 1934. The gross revenue for this quarter increased $9,914,000, or 16.6 per cent over the same period in 1933. The latest figures available show that from January to April 21 of this year the gross revenue increased $6,077,000, or 17.3 per cent over the corresponding period in 1933, the increase in freight revenue being $4,287,000, or 18.7 per cent.

The improvement in net results from hotels and communications for the first quarter of 1934 over the same period last year amounted to $44,926 for hotels, and $64,690 for communications."

The annual financial report of the company was also unanimously adopted.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

The retiring directors, Sir Charles Gordon, G. R. H. McLean, R. H. Hon. Reginald McKenna, James A. Richardson and W. J. Blake Wilson, were re-elected.

At the meeting of the directors following the annual meeting of the shareholders, E. W. Beatty was re-elected chairman and president, Grant Hall, vice-president, and E. W. Beatty, Grant Hall, Sir Herbert Holt, W. N. Tilley, K.C., Sir Charles Gordon, G.B.E., and W. A. Black, members of the executive committee for the ensuing year.

Resolutions were approved adopting by-laws under which the directors may, should they so decide, open a registry office in Toronto.

Transfer of stock, and issue consolidated debenture stock in Canadian Currency.

NEW GAS FIELD IN ALBERTA

Edmonton, May 2—Another northern Alberta gas field becomes a possibility with the striking of a flow of gas near Broseau, on the Saskatchewan River northeast of Vegreville. A well is being drilled at that point in what is presumably a continuation of the sand now being operated in the Viking gas field, and in this well a flow was struck late Saturday night.

No estimate has yet been made of the volume of the flow, but William Calder, director of the petroleum and natural gas division of the Department of Lands and Mines, inspected the well and has verified the report of the strike.

TROPHIES GO TO ENSEMBLES

Three Choirs and Vocal Quartette Successful at Festival Yesterday Evening

Two cups and two shields for ensemble singing were won during the evening's programme of the Victoria Musical Festival at First United Church yesterday. Some spirited singing was heard and certainly it can be said the adjudications were most favorable—perhaps the most favorable of recent years.

In the first event on the programme, the Victoria School of Expression singers retained the Schubert Club Cup for private school choirs of not more than thirty voices, beating the only other competitor, St. Margaret's girls, by two marks. Both choirs got the same mark for the first test piece, the two-part "Evening Song," but the Victoria School of Expression won the cup on the strength of a delightful interpretation of "Song of the Fairies."

The Gyro Club Challenge Shield for small choirs of less than twenty-five members brought out three groups in close competition. St. Aidan's United Church choir succeeded by a mark margin over the Garden City Church choir.

DECISIVE VICTORY

By a wide margin the First United Quartette again secured the Metropolitan United Choir Challenge Cup. The ensembles of soprano, alto, tenor and bass. The Maple Leaf Quartette came second, ahead of two other entries, including one from Tacoma.

The Victoria Male Choir was the only entrant in its class, the Comox District Men's Musical not coming down to defend. The Knights of Pythias Challenge Shield won by it last year.

Also on the programme were exhibitions by Charles Rhodes, Beverly Morris and the Vancouver Baby Orchestra Trio, winners, respectively, of the boys' vocal solo over twelve, piano open and instrumental trio classes decided earlier in the day.

Striking testimony to the versatility of the three British judges, Dr. Hull, Dr. Collingwood and Dr. Dunhill, was secured through the manner they alternated for vocal classes. Dr. Collingwood had in the morning done a piano class in striking fashion because Mr. Dunhill's enforced lateness, and Dr. Hull had done singing on his arrival. In the evening, however, they all did voice.

CLOSE COMPETITION

Concerning the competition between St. Margaret's and the Victoria School of Expression, Mr. Dunhill, who adjudicated, said this was one of those difficult cases where he wished there were two prizes of equal worth. "They were both excellent performances and were particularly noteworthy because each could learn something from the other."

Dr. Collingwood took the small adult choir class, pointing out how a choir must, in addition to his musicianship, possess judgment and diplomacy. He said the adjudication of the best choirs in this group, but criticized one entry for using the piano. No piano, he said, was ever in the mind of the judge. The piano was right in time. The piano was always a compromise: one should not have a crutch when one did not have to.

An outstanding performance of the second test piece, "Oh, Breathe Not His Name" (Stanford) won the shield for St. Aidan's United in this class. The winners' mark for the first number had put them in third and last place.

Dr. Hull adjudicated the vocal quartette test piece, giving the First United singers 88 for each piece and placing them well ahead of the other competitors.

JUDGE COMPOSED PIECE

An interesting feature of the class for male choirs, in which there was just the one entry, was that the man who adjudicated it was the composer of one of the test pieces, "Come Away, O' Fair Child of Old Country," that the quality of the Victoria Male Choir's performance, which he termed "very poetic," and to which he awarded 85 marks.

In his closing remarks, Mr. Dunhill said an acquaintance had told him he was leaving the Old Country that the only industry which was looking up was astronomy. On the contrary, he found that music was looking up over here.

"From all I hear, your festival is looking up, and it would look up more if there were another male choir in the class. I am sure you are all clapping. He told of the spirit and atmosphere surrounding the male choir competitions in the English mining areas and said he considered there was nothing more magnificent than such a type of singing."

Canada And League Debated

The League's interests in Canada were championed by Senator Bourassa, who said that as much as signing its deathknell. It had begun as a society of conquerors seeking to maintain the status quo and it was idle to hope to maintain the status quo forever.

SENATOR MURDOCK'S SPEECH

A flare-up occurred when the Edmonton Senator charged that Senator James Murdock, Liberal, Ottawa, in a speech some days ago had intimated that Senator McInnes was one of those responsible for wars and rumors of war. Denial was made by Senator Murdock that he had made this intimation.

Senator Griesbach quoted Senator Murdock's speech verbatim, stressing the reference that capitalists and wealthy men promoted wars.

If anyone had anything to gain by war it was the man who had least to lose, said Senator Griesbach. The man of means had his holdings affected, Senator Murdock was not talking to the Senate when he made the statement, for he knew it would not be credited, but had been talking to people outside the Senate who might be impressed by it. Senator Murdock sought to promote hatred, to foster class wars, stated the Edmonton Senator.

Senator Murdock immediately protested.

Senator McInnes intervened to point out that his speech had not been intended to be antagonistic. Senator Murdock had charged him with insincerity. Senator Murdock had said too much or too little.

"I have nothing to take back," rejoined Senator Murdock.

Bennett Refuses To Give Province Aid

ditute by about $1,000,000 and reduced the income tax by another $500,000. Mr. Hart's answer was that his budget was a complete statement of the provincial finances and that with $11,000,000 debt charges to meet, the government could not exist on the remaining $6,000,000 of a $16,000,000 revenue as the increases were essential. One of the major items, for instance, was $200,000 for forest protection, which is regarded as essential.

Another item is $225,000 for restoration of the hospital grants.

Reduction of the income tax in the smaller brackets was a pledge given to the people and endorsed at the polls.

It was to settle these points that the Premier and his three colleagues went to Ottawa.

Whether the rejection to-day means the province will immediately go about revising its budget or take the threatened step of defaulting on its interest payments is yet to be decided. Premier Pattullo's statement to-morrow will probably convey some idea along this line.

Marketing Bill Gets Second Reading

YESTERDAY'S DEBATE

During yesterday's debate Mr. Bourassa, grey-haired former Quebec ministerial leader, and Mr. Reid announced they would support second reading of the far-reaching bill, but both said it must be changed radically in committee stage if the government expected them to vote for it in all stages. In this they followed the lead of Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture and Minister from-bencher.

ORDERLY MARKETING

He realized, said Mr. Reid, that the days of haphazard marketing were gone. The need for securing markets went hand in hand with orderly marketing, with maintenance of quality and continuity of supply. The farmer had for long been forced to sell in the cheapest market and buy in the dearest.

The present bill was regulatory rather than designed to facilitate marketing. He hoped the local boards contemplated by the act would not have power to control production.

Mr. Reid cited the Dairy Products Sales Adjustment Act of British Columbia as the bill on which the British Columbia marketing act had been based, and from which the government's present legislation has been copied.

The measure did not enforce pooling of products, something which Mr. Reid thought should be embodied in the bill.

In his patriarchal way Mr. Bourassa, a grandson of Louis Joseph Riel, said the bill was a mixture of good and evil.

He agreed a central marketing board was necessary, but foresaw evil in the boards which would be open to political interference and monopolistic action.

CODE FOR B.C.

Ottawa, May 2—A code for the baking industry of British Columbia was filed with the Commons committee investigating business practices here to-day by R. W. Ward, vice president of the Canadian Bakers, with headquarters at Calgary.

Adoption of this code, said Mr. Ward in his statement, would make the final stage in a long struggle to free the baking industry from exploitation from without and the unbridled competition within its ranks.

The code would forbid members of the baking industry from selling their bread to the public.

TILT IS SEEN IN COMMONS

J. F. Pouliot in Exchanges With S. Gobeil and I. D. Macdougall

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 2.—Temperatures flashed in the House of Commons yesterday with Jean Francois Pouliot, Liberal member for Temiscouata, Que., testing his steel against two Conservatives while the House considered the government marketing bill.

The mercurial French-Canadian first tangled with Samuel Gobeil, Conservative member for Compton, Que., over Ku Klux Klan members of the House, and wound up with an altercation with Isaac D. Macdougall, Conservative, Inverness, in which the Nova Scotian threatened to "go over there" and make him withdraw a statement.

It all started when the Temiscouata member accused his Conservative compatriot with associating too closely with the members for Long Lake and Repulse, W. D. Cowan and Frank Turnbull, the Ku Klux Klan, to speak for Quebec. The Speaker made him withdraw.

Selecting another tack, Mr. Pouliot made reference to the contract which Mr. Gobeil's brother had with the Canadian National Railways to supply wild strawberry jam to the dining-car department.

NOT ASHAMED
This brought the Quebec Conservative to his feet again. He was not ashamed of his brother's enterprise. In fact, he said, he would be more honored to have a brother engaged in this business than to have one in jail in Mexico.

"I have no brother in jail in Mexico," interjected Mr. Pouliot. Sir George Perley intervened to suggest the Temiscouata member limit his remarks to the marketing bill.

"I didn't say so," retorted Mr. Gobeil, replying to Mr. Pouliot's statement. This chapter closed with the acting speaker, Grote Stirling, Conservative, Yale, suggesting that members "leave their relatives out of the discussion."

But later Mr. Pouliot returned to the fray, leading to his brush with the Nova Scotian. His only brother, he said, had captured the first German prisoner for the 22nd Battalion, was wounded at Vimy and decorated.

"I am not ashamed of any member of my family," almost shouted the Quebecer, facing the Conservative benches opposite. "There are no grafters in my family."

VANCOUVER BRIDGE PLANS ARE STUDIED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 2.—Application for approval of the plans for the First Narrows Bridge at Vancouver was received some time ago. Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, said in the House of Commons yesterday. Representations both for and against the proposed bridge had also been received. Engineers of the department were now looking into it, and pending their report the matter was in abeyance.

The information was given in answer to a question asked by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, Vancouver Centre.

HIGH COURT JUDGE HEARS BOOPING CASE

New York, May 2.—One of the most amusing shows recently has been staged far off Broadway—down at the big building which houses the New York State Supreme Court, where Helen Kane's boop-a-booping suit against a movie concern has been heard. Heard and seen. Privileged films have been projected in the judge's chambers, and the presiding justice has listened gravely to an assestment of boops. Mae Questel, Bonnie Poe and Margie Blaes, rival boopers for the defence, sat around and looked very bored. Helen herself, thinner than she used to be, sat in a corner, meditatively sucking a finger, and now and then beamed at her husband, Max Hoffman Jr.

PUBLIC WORKS PLANS DRAFTED

Premier Tells Commons Relief Programme Almost Completed

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 2.—The government's programme of public works for unemployment relief may be introduced in the Commons before long. In answer to a question asked by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, opposition leader, the Prime Minister yesterday afternoon said the legislation was practically ready, but he thought it advisable to advance bills now before the chamber before introducing new material.

U.B.C. BUDGET IS APPROVED

Board of Governors Votes Appropriations for 1934-35 Season

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 2.—The University of British Columbia budget for the 1934-35 session, based on a provincial government grant of $300,000, has been passed by the board of governors.

President L. S. Klinck stated the budget followed the same general lines as for the present year. Beyond saying the additional $50,000 in the grant was largely appropriated to meet expenses accumulated during the last few years, he gave no details.

Promotions and increases in salary were announced for several faculty members: Dr. D. C. B. Duff, from instructor in bacteriology to assistant professor; Prof. G. F. Drummond, from assistant professor of economics to associated professor; Prof. F. J. Brand, from instructor in mathematics to assistant professor.

Dr. Herbert Vickers, head of the department of mechanical and electrical engineering, was granted leave of absence until May 1935. He left last Friday for England, where he will do research work at the University of London. Dr. H. F. G. Letson was appointed acting head of the department in his absence. Prof. F. Creedy of Lehigh University was appointed substitute professor for Dr. Vickers for the year.

Mr. McGeer submitted a bill which, he said, was merely a basis indicating the type and form of legislation required to put his plan into effect.

"The wage-earners spend their money," Mr. McGeer said, "and there is no substitute yet discovered for the weekly pay cheque. It is the basis for all prosperity," he said. Therefore the scheme should provide that every person gets well paid.

HOW MONEY TO BE HANDLED

"In this plan I have taken away gold as the basis of wealth and substituted the going concern value of the social activities of the people," the witness proceeded. He would have the national mint manufacture money as it does at present, but supply it to the national bank rather than to the chartered banks as under the present system.

"You will say—oh, yes, but the government would then spend more money if they had entire control of the money. Of course they would. You could tear down every city in Canada and rebuild it—and would have to do it to bring twentieth century living conditions."

Sub-banks would be established in every province and the constitutional rights of the provinces would not be interfered with, "as they may be interfered with under the financial system you propose to set up."

UNIFORM SYSTEM

A uniform system would be set up in each province for wages and working conditions. All functions of government would be financed by an issue of national credit and everyone would be working and prosperous.

"Wouldn't that be better than having a few abnormally rich and the great mass suffering poverty and humiliation," he asked.

"You say we would pour out money for everything? Yes, I would build better parks, better schools, and I would pay people to go to school. There would be a fixed amount of purchasing power, amounting to uncontrolled inflation, only if the government did not use its powers."

TAXATION CHECK

The taxation department would handle the lever that would prevent an over accumulation of purchasing power. Control would be as simple as it is under the present system, or more so.

Merchant banks would still function and would have more business than ever before, but only what Mr. McGeer called legitimate business. The banks would be allowed to loan only the money they held in actual currency.

"Anything beyond that is the prerogative of the government," said Mr. McGeer, "and to take away the control of credit from the banks would be to take from them something they never should have had."

PRICE OF WHEAT

Mr. McGeer would fix the price of wheat at $1.50 per bushel and relate all other commodity values to that. This would not mean wheat would bring $1.50 a bushel outside of Canada, but a producer would get that amount of the national credit.

Russia and Japan were controlling their export trade, said Mr. McGeer, and were underselling the world. Canada would have to do likewise or lose her export trade.

The banks were over-privileged and were unable to create credit out of the money they supposedly loaned. The country was in the grip of the dead hand of usury.

HONEST MEN NEEDED

He had been questioned, Mr. McGeer said, as to how men of sufficient honesty could be secured to be entrusted with the great responsibility that would accrue to them under the plan.

His answer was that public opinion would keep the responsible officers in line. He would enlarge the interpretation of "treason" in the Criminal Code to cover any person who acted to disrupt the economic system of their country.

"You might have to shoot a few men, but not very many," Mr. McGeer said. The duty would produce the man, he added.

POSITION OF U.S.

Unless the Roosevelt plans in the United States were carried to the point where the government would have complete control of the credit issue, said Mr. McGeer, "that unfortunate country is heading for the most disastrous catastrophe in its history."

A morose of political drama was unfolded at the close of the committee session that may have repercussions later.

Suddenly, promptly at 8 o'clock, Chairman R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York-Sunbury, N.B., without glancing at the witness, announced adjournment after an "exhaustive and exhausting day."

"We have too much other work to do," continued the chairman. "This committee stands adjourned until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, when bill 18 (revision of the Bank Act) will be discussed."

Gathering his papers, the chairman brushed past the British Columbia witness, who murmured something that sounded like, "That seems to be my dismissal."

"York-Sunbury will hear more of this before the election," said Mr. McGeer to the witness.

"I'm not afraid," said Chairman Hanson, adding as he swept down the aisle with a smile flickering across his face, "nor of you either."

Index Climbs On Employment

Statistics Show Situation Now About Equal to Latter Part of 1931

Employment in British Columbia during April increased by 762 persons over March in 843 firms reporting to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, according to figures just released.

The firms showed a total employment of 71,371 persons. The index figure, showing relative employment month by month, climbed from 85.6 in March to 86.4 in April. This compares with 85.8 on April 1, 1933, 80.9 in 1932, and 92.4 in 1931, indicating the employment situation is the best it has been for three years.

Vancouver alone had an increase of 210 on payroll of reporting firms in April. While the index figure did not reveal such a marked climb in that city as in the rest of the province, it advanced 5.8 points to 84.8.

Graphs on employment for Canada generally show a marked upswing in practically all lines. Agriculture has reached the highest point since the end of 1931. Manufacturing industries are about the same. In mining there is a marked upswing, but transportation is about the same as last year. Generally the charts show that employment indices are about the same as they were at the close of 1931, but still a long way from the 1926 peak.

Yet, every day—mainly through lack of knowledge—thousands of buyers accept dubious "bargain" drugs for use in the home... gamble the health of their children or themselves on preparations, to take internally, about which they know nothing.

Your doctor will tell you that giving unknown drugs is one of the most dangerous things that you can do. The only safety lies in the path of his orders.

Doctors Say PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Young People's Church Societies

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A.

The Young People of St. John's Church held an important business meeting on Monday evening in the guild room. Several matters of importance were discussed, including a report of the tennis club, submitted by J. Laver. Members interested in the club are asked to get in touch with Miss S. Scholfield.

As a result of the recent provincial council meeting held in Vancouver plans are under way for forming an A.Y.P.A. summer camp. Several new features will be included this year, and all young people interested should consult the registrar, J. Hooper. The branch is enthusiastically preparing for summer activities. In this connection a committee convened by S. Cooper, is preparing several summer outings. On May 24 the annual A.Y.P.A. picnic will be held at Witty's Cove.

The Biblical drama, "A Dream of Queen Esther," which has been successfully produced by the branch, will be repeated for the third time on May 9, in St. John's auditorium. The play will be sponsored by the Rebekahs of the L.O.O.F.

The meeting concluded with a most interesting address by Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick on reminiscences of his ministerial career.

ST. ANDREW'S

A two-act play entitled "A Hole in the Fence" was given by St. Andrew's Young People's Society in the schoolroom of the church last night at 8 o'clock. The assisting actors on the programme were: Miss Amy Anderson, pianist; Miss Doreen Evans, contralto; Arnold W. Trevett, baritone; J. Moscop, cornetist; W. Barzanes, magician; and J. Haggart, accordionist. The proceeds were devoted to the service funds of the society.

ST. MICHAEL'S

The regular meeting of St. Michael's A.Y.P.S. was held on Saturday, the president, Frank Doyle, in the chair. The meeting decided to help St. Columba's A.Y.P.S. in their drive to provide St. Columba's Church with new prayer-books. An invitation was received from Archdeacon and Mrs. Dewdney to a beach party. The evening closed with a series of games. All members are asked to take notice that the next meeting on May 12 will be the annual election meeting.

METROPOLITAN

Metropolitan Young People's Society had a well-attended meeting on Monday evening when the annual elections were held. Group meetings were followed by a sing-song, after which Elbert Wood led in a short worship service. "Jesus Ideals of Living" was the theme used. Doris Smith announced the hymns and Elms Keeler gave a reading on "Living the Abundant Life." Elbert Wood led in prayer, and the congregation joined in the reading of "The Beatitudes."

Rev. Mr. Warr conducted the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Bert Simpson; vice-president, Elbert Wood; secretary, Ellis Waller; assistant secretary, Donald Wheldon; treasurer, Dorothy Cronk; group leaders, Hazel McPhie, Elbert Wood, Ruth Saunders and Catherine Craig; union representatives, Mollie Lally and Harry Bates. Members of group A and C, under the direction of Mollie Lally, produced a mock trial entitled "Peanut County Court in Session," the following taking part: Judge, Bert Simpson; clerk of court, Tom Wilson; lawyers, Donald McCain and Melville Vout; sheriff, Jack Chutich; jury, Gerald McNaught, Lloyd Knapp, Harold Price, Arthur Harris, Albert Comber, Lorne Ritchie, James Brown, Douglas Hunt, and witnesses, Harold Williams, Frank Willer, Christopher Taylor, James Smethurst; principals, George Sand Donald Wheldon; and George Gillis.

Marshall will stage the broadcasts in the manner of Broadway reviews, making the curtain speeches and taking speaking roles in scenes from musical shows. The supporting stars will include Elizabeth Lennox, popular radio contralto; Victor Arden, Orchestra, featuring Arden and his partner, Phil Ohman, in two-piano specialties; "Romero and Juliet," black and white comedians who will make their radio debut in this series; Irving Kaufman, stage and radio veteran and popular impersonator; and a mixed chorus.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

CRADLE CAP MAY BE FORM OF ECZEMA

The cradle cap which results from a too gingerly washing of the palpitating fontanel is very easily overcome by the simple expedient of more vigorous cleansing. Mothers have that old-time fear that pressure on the fontanel will keep the baby over and while there is danger attached to blows on these exposed portions of the head, certainly the pressure of a wash cloth and the healthy stimulus of a good cleansing scrub and rinse offer no danger whatever.

TWO TYPES OF CRADLE CAP

When the scalp is washed daily, the fontanel should get its share of soap and friction. If there is a tendency to scaldness at that point, a bit of warm oil may be rubbed into the scalp and left on. Scraping of this portion of the head with a fine comb merely results in more scald and often an increasingly red and irritated area that defies healing. When the scales are loosened by washing and oiling, they will fluff off without any other help than friction with a towel.

The cradle cap that resists all efforts both for removal and healing is quite often related to the diet, and is more in the nature of an eczema of the scalp. There are usually thick, oily scales that reappear almost as soon as they are removed. Washing, oiling, and even the use of healing salves have only a temporary effect upon it.

EXPERIMENT WITH DIET

In the following case of Mrs. K. W. M., she has used oil, and healing salves with no results. The seven-month-old baby has a constant recurrence of the scaly cap. "The diet is the ordinary one, excellent in variety and composition. There seems nothing obviously wrong.

In this case it is well to experiment with the diet. Try removing the egg from the diet, or the milk. Change the type of cereal being used. Make each change separately and notice the influence upon the cradle cap. Because of the lateness of the season, it might be advisable to use daily sun baths instead of cod liver oil and see how the omission of this particular fat affects the scalp rash. My leaflet, "How to Give Summer Sun Baths," will suggest the correct procedure. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Any healing salve can be used. Some mothers have had marked success when borax was scrubbed on with a cloth, the abrasive and mildly antiseptic qualities putting an end to the itching. This would help

Almost Instant Relief From Neuralgia

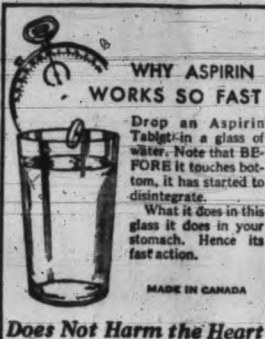

For Quick Relief Say ASPIRIN When You Buy

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia... the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start, "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly by you swallow it. And there is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN'S quick relief, be sure the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin.

Does Not Harm the Heart

R. P. Day, manager of the New Westminster Junior Band, reached the city yesterday to make arrangements for the visit of the band to the music festival Saturday.

The band holds the junior championship of B.C., and the senior class

A championship, and unprecedented distinction for a band for its average age. It also boasts the senior orchestral championship.

The band, which is conducted by Lieut. C. J. Cornfield, has a distinctive uniform, the main feature of which is a cape of royal blue, lined with Fraser tartan silk.

FIX CIRCUS PROGRAMME

Y.M.C.A.'s Annual Event
Will Include Acts by Police,
Navy and Firemen

One of the widest ranges of entertaining and thrilling acts ever gathered in Victoria was announced yesterday evening when the programme of the Y.M.C.A.'s big annual event, which takes place Saturday evening, May 12, was fixed at a meeting of the committee in charge of the show.

The programme will open with music by the Shrine Band, in charge of Lieut. J. Miller. This will be followed by a grand circus parade headed by the Victoria Boys' Band under the direction of George H. E. Green.

The first actual number on the programme will be a mass flag drill act by over one hundred boys, going through intricate movements with many colored flags. This will be followed by a short display of ladder drill to be staged by the Victoria Fire Department.

One of the thrilling acrobatic stunts of the evening will be put on by the Y.M.C.A. senior leader corps. Twelve young athletes will perform spectacular dives and somersaults.

Comedy will be injected into the performance by a collapsible automobile and a host of clowns.

Another acrobatic team, trained by Len Oliver, will make its appearance in a tumbling act. Mr. Oliver is a veteran of the show business, who has held every post from curtain-puller to stage director.

The provincial police have undertaken to stage their celebrated trick riding act, if they can possibly get to the show.

The senior leader corps will make a second appearance with two spring boards and a horse. The group, under the charge of Noel Collinson, will feature a teter-board act.

NAVAL GUN DRILL

One of the highlights of the performance will be a demonstration of gun drill by a detachment from the navy, which has offered its services for the occasion.

Pyramids on Roman ladders will be followed by the appearance of the two acrobatic burlesque clowns, Oliver and Francis.

Living statue tableaux will be the artistic highlight of the evening. They will represent famous pieces of statuary, such as Michelangelo's Discobolus and Rodin's Thinker.

The show will conclude with a musical ride by Victoria Riding Academy and Hunt Club, which was the success of the spring horse show. Calgary Red, broncho buster, renowned throughout the Pacific coast, will present several trick riding stunts during the circus.

Holders of reserved seat tickets should call at the Y.M.C.A. desk as soon as possible to have their seats allotted to them. The best seats will go to the first applicants.

SAYS MUSIC A NECESSITY

Business Men Gradually Appreciating
Finer Arts, Says
Vocal Adjudicator

Music and other finer arts are a necessity to-day and business men were realizing their value and including them more and more in their regular routine, Arthur Collingwood, professor of music at the University of Saskatchewan, yesterday, told members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel. The subject of his address was "The Fine Arts Debut to Commerce." Prof. Collingwood is adjudicator of the vocal classes at the music festival.

Music for a long time was made rather a mystery when musicians cultivated superior atmospheres and singular address. Prof. Collingwood stated. This aloofness was all wrong because music was part of every day life. From coast to coast in Canada he had found a keen interest among business in this finer art of life. Returning to England he had discovered a similar condition, as it would not be possible for the great institutions to exist without public support.

In England and Scotland, he stated, the finest type of music was found in the "black" spots and not necessarily in the fine concert halls. The reason for this was that these workmen in the working yards had realized there were other things beside the material things in life.

RYTHM IN JAZZ

In regard to modern music and dancing, the speaker was pleased to note a swinging rhythm symbolic of the folk song. But he found, modern music was still more a matter of less than "jazz" which, he explained, was Scotch for ears.

Referring back to music of the Old Country, he noted practically all of the best concert halls and art galleries had been constructed through the interest of commercially minded business men. Similar instances were to be found in the larger Canadian cities, he continued, citing Toronto, Winnipeg and Regina, where musical organizations were generously supported by men, many of whom could not play or sing a note.

In the United States there were the New York Symphony, the Philadelphia Philharmonic and the Boston Symphony orchestras.

ART A NECESSITY

Prof. Collingwood wanted business men to realize the finer arts were a necessity. If one tried to develop his taste for music he would find it very responsive.

In reference to school music, he stated it had only recently been included in regular curriculum. When school music was well taught, it had a combined value equal to that of mathematics and physical culture, he said, quoting the words of leading English authorities.

There was now an effort to gain a uniform outlook on school music in Canada, he continued.

CULTIVATE SCHOOL CHOIRS

He congratulated the members for their support of the local festival movement, adding that it was doing much to "humanize" musicians. He was particularly interested in further development of school choirs.

One of the great problems of this country was to weld its many foreign nationalities into one, and to-day this was being accomplished by music which was serving as a nation-builder in moulding the children together and teaching them British customs in an entertaining form. President S. J. D. Clark thanked the speaker.

BIG CHOCOLATE CONCERNS UNITE

Fry-Cadbury Will Be the Name of the Two Amalgamated
Firms in the East

An amalgamation of the firms of J. S. Fry & Sons (Canada) Ltd. and Cadbury Ltd., has been announced from Montreal, the Canadian headquarters of these two widely-known companies.

The name of the new partnership is Fry-Cadbury Ltd. and the two modern factories which have been near and friendly neighbor in Montreal for several years, are now a unit where products bearing two of the most famous names in the English-speaking world will be manufactured.

This event is another milestone in the romantic history of two great companies, pre-eminent in the cocoa and chocolate industries.

In a small shop in Bristol, England, Joseph Storrs Fry started making Fry's cocoa in 1728, just 206 years ago. In Birmingham, England, in 1824, just over 100 years ago, John Cadbury started in business. He started his cocoa and chocolate business in 1861.

BOTH WERE QUAKERS

While it is only in recent years that there has been any connection between these two firms, their histories are similar in many respects. Both Joseph Storrs Fry and John Cadbury started business with modest capital, in a small retail establishment. Both were Quakers. Both businesses have remained under the direction and control of the original family to this day. Cecil Fry, present chairman of the board of directors of the parent

Fry Company, is the sixth in direct line of succession to head the firm.

The analogy holds good with Cadbury Bros. Ltd. John Cadbury was the founder of this business, which later passed into the hands of Richard Cadbury and George Cadbury. Under their direction the business grew into world fame. The present chairman of the company is William A. Cadbury, a direct descendant of the founder.

The Quaker influence has been much in evidence in both companies. In the early days of both Cadbury's and Fry's, a short religious service preceded the day's work in the factories. Joseph Storrs Fry read the Scriptures to his employees every morning. During the 80's and 90's a passage of Scripture was read to their employees each morning by one of the Cadbury partners.

But these evidences of religious tendencies were not, in either company, confined to mere form or ceremony. The Cadbury and Fry Companies have always gone to what might be considered extreme lengths to ensure the comfort and happiness of their employees. Nowhere is this concern for employees' welfare better evidenced than at Somerdale and at Bourneville, the headquarters of the English companies. Both firms conceived the idea of creating a model site for their operations—a place in the open country where they could work and play and live in ideal homes.

IDEAL HOUSING

The Bourneville Village, created by Cadbury's around the Cadbury factory, was the first great experiment in an ideal housing scheme. To-day with its flowers, its neat homes, its playing grounds, and community houses, it is one of the show places of England.

Fry's have built their garden city on the banks of the River Avon at Somerdale. It is a more recent development than the Bourneville enterprise. In the past few years the manufacturing has been transferred from the older Fry plants in the heart of the city of Bristol to the huge modern buildings in the peaceful English countryside.

Fry and Cadbury products were imported into Canada for many years prior to the establishment of the Fry factory in Montreal in 1920. To-day these factories use thousands of gallons of pure full cream milk annually, bought from Canadian farms. More than ninety-seven per cent of the ingredients used in Fry and Cadbury products are empire-grown.

The new partnership begins its existence under the happiest auspices. With centuries of experience, the tradition of highest quality, trained staffs, loyal workers, elaborate and modern research facilities, an efficient sales and distributing organization and Dominion-wide consumer acceptance for all its products—the new company is headed for even greater heights of prosperity. It will be guided by F. T. W. Saunders and W. F. B. Wragg, directors.

RENAME CITY LAKES TO-DAY

Civic officials yesterday conducted a tour of the bodies of water on watershed property to eliminate duplication in the names of lakes and streams in a new map being made up for the district.

Headed by Alderman Andrew McGavin, chairman of the water board, and including Mayor Leeming, Aldermen P. R. Brown, J. D. Hunter and John A. Worthington, as well as D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, G. M. Irwin, city engineer and water commissioner, H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, and John Baxter, mayor's secretary, the party left Victoria shortly after 9 o'clock.

It made a tour of the various lakes, during which features of the bodies of water would be inspected, and return to town this afternoon.

MAY DAY IN CITY QUIET

Few Participate in Workers' Parade; Speakers Heard at Central Park

Victoria's May Day Workers' celebration yesterday drew forty men and women carrying half a dozen banners. They marched from the corner of Blanshard Street and Pandora Avenue to Central Park.

The procession was orderly throughout. Members of the motorcycle corps of the city police insured a clear passage for the marchers.

At Central Park the representation was joined by other supporters, and members spoke briefly on the downfall of capitalism, the menace of war and Fascism to youth, and extolled Socialist doctrines with a plea for unity among the workers.

Hearers were urged to demand a boost in relief allowances and to stand together in their moves. Some of the speakers referred to the paradox of plenty and starvation in the world-to-day, and spoke of unethical distribution of wealth and the inequities of production for profit only. Picnics carried by the marchers included the signs "Sooke, May 1, We Demand Recognition of Political Prisoners as Such," "Repeal Section 98." "Up With the Food Allowance," "Smash Frame-up on Joe Derby," "Free Evans on July 15," "Down With Persecution of Workers," "Free the Seven Workers' Leaders at Kingston." The parade was led with a banner "May 1, International Workers' Day, Sanich, Victoria, Esquimalt." The banners included the names of the Canadian Labor Defence League, the Young Communist League and others.

NEW STAIRWAY FOR MINISTER

Provincial government architects to-day had solved an internal transportation problem for Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipal Affairs, and Acting Premier.

Mr. Gray's office is at the extreme southwest corner of the Parliament Buildings on the ground floor. Owing to the construction of the building, to reach the second floor directly above he must traverse the entire length of the buildings in one direction or another twice. Even to reach the Legislative chamber he has to travel once and a half the width, and while this may be good for the constitution it takes up a good deal of time in a busy cabinet minister's day. The architects, on Mr. Gray's suggestion, have come to his rescue by designing a stairway leading from the ground floor to the second floor. This will make it conform with the construction in the east wing of the building and will eliminate at least some of Mr. Gray's isolation.

LIBRARIANS OF B.C. TO MEET

City and Provincial Library Officials to Attend Sessions on Mainland

Six members of the Victoria Public Library staff and three from the Provincial Library will attend the annual convention of the B.C. Library Association on the mainland next week.

The meeting is scheduled to meet May 7, with two business sessions in New Westminster and a dinner in the evening at the Hotel Georgia in Vancouver, according to an announcement by Miss Marjorie Holmes of the Provincial Library, who is the president.

Considerable importance attaches to the meeting because of difficult financial problems faced by many of the city libraries. In two centres municipal grants for libraries were cut off entirely. Progress of a rural library scheme now under way in the Fraser Valley will be explained by Dr. Helen Stewart, director of the plan. Miss Jean Stewart, who has been organizing a similar project in the north central district of the province, will also report. Mayor J. Hume of New Westminster will welcome the convention and at the dinner in the evening the feature address will be on "Democracy" by Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald.

Minister In Sports Role

Hon. A. Wells Gray to Officiate at Lacrosse Opener in New Westminster, Aided by Byron "Boss" Johnson, M.P.P.; Both Old-time Players

Two once-famous lacrosse players, now prominent in British Columbia's political life, left the capital yesterday afternoon to officiate at the opening of the box lacrosse season in New Westminster yesterday evening.

The more outstanding figure is that of Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipal Affairs, and at present pinch-hitting as Premier of the province for Hon. T. D. Pattullo, who is absent in Ottawa. Yesterday evening Mr. Gray took on another role, with which he was not unfamiliar, by tossing the ball in at the opening of the New Westminster game.

Watching him, and possibly assisting him, will be Byron "Boss" Johnson, one of Victoria's great contributions to the Canadian game. "Boss" wears M.P.P. after his name now, but his eyes sparkled in anticipation of the show yesterday evening.

"And I'll tell you 'Boss' will want to foster a box lacrosse league in Victoria after he has seen the game," said Mr. Gray, who has lost none of his old-time enthusiasm for the sport.

CRAIG DARROCH IS FINE WORK

Annual Organ of Victoria College Has Much of Interest for Outsider

To the many residents of Victoria, who at some time in their lives have passed through Victoria College, The Craigdarroch, annual organ of that institution, will be of especial interest. But its appeal is not only limited to ex-students of the college. It is a publication of wide range and containing a great deal of humor.

The Craigdarroch of 1934 carries in its opening pages an impressive list of officers, and boasts an editor, Iona Acland; three co-editors, Clare Dillworth, Peggy Higgs and Elsie Davies; an art editor, Anna Clarke; two business managers, and five business assistants.

The magazine opens with an editorial which is a pleasant change from the usual custom of school yearbooks, which spend a great deal of time and valuable space writing about the difficulties of having nothing to say.

P. H. Elliott, M. Sc., principal of the college, contributes a foreword which is a plea for learning in a disorganized world where it seems in danger of falling into disrepute. The activities of the college naturally occupy the majority of the magazine, and are accompanied by an excellent series of illustrations, both photographic and line.

Features which will be of interest to the outsider as well as the former or present student include poetry, five excellent book reviews, a great deal of amusing fooling, including a take-off of the eternal newspaper bridge article, and two or three good cartoons.

The volume has none of the mimeographed appearance which usually haunts the school magazine even when printed, is excellently laid out and artistically decorated, and includes its seventy-odd pages in an attractive cover.

CLUB ARRANGES JUNE EXCURSION

The trip will be made aboard the C.P.R. steamer—Princess Marguerite, which will leave the city about 9 o'clock in the morning. From five to six hours will be spent in Seattle. Reasonable rates have been arranged. Mr. Diggon stated, in urging members, to lend their support.

PIERS ISLAND APPEAL HEARD

Expropriation of Site of Penitentiary for Doukhobors Argued at Ottawa

Ottawa, May 2.—The island penitentiary for Doukhobors, near Victoria, British Columbia, convicted of nude parades, situated off the coast of Vancouver Island, twenty miles north of Victoria, became an issue to-day before the Supreme Court of Canada.

"Just a nudist colony—this island penitentiary," Mr. Justice Rinfert observed when the case was opened.

C. H. O'Halloran of Victoria, counsel for the defendant, submitted the island was really a reformatory with the nudist feature excluded, and the court began serious deliberation of the case.

Mr. O'Halloran further submitted residents of an adjoining island were disturbed by the monotonous chants of the Doukhobors in confinement and asked the Crown for damages for depreciation of their property as a result of establishment of the temporary penitentiary.

Mr. O'Halloran appeared before the court in the dual role of respondent and counsel. Chief Justice Duff ruled one individual could not act in these two capacities before the Supreme Court, and Mr. O'Halloran was requested to plead his case in the capacity of respondent alone. He removed his gown and relinquished the role of counsel.

Pier Island was expropriated by the government June 16, 1932, for five years to establish a temporary prison for the nude paraders. The Exchequer Court January 18, 1934, fixed compensation for timber rights which the government also acquired. The government has appealed this judgment in the action before the court to-day.

The owner of the island in his original claim asked $85,000, plus 10 per cent from the Crown. The Exchequer Court awarded $10,000. The owner of the island in his original claim asked $85,000, plus 10 per cent from the Crown. The Exchequer Court awarded $10,000.

Pier Island was sold in 1909 by Sir Clive Phillips-Woolley to the late Colonel J. S. Harvey. It was left in trust by Col. Harvey to his family, together with Knapp Island. The estate is administered by Mr. O'Halloran, respondent in the present action.

Knapp Island, occupied by the Harvey family, immediately adjoins the island penitentiary, and it is contended the reformatory for the Doukhobors has depreciated the value of this property for residential purposes.

Lindley Crease, K.C., Victoria, appeared for the Crown.

The case is continuing.

CANNOT HOLD IRIS DISPLAY

Horticultural Society Forced to Give Up Annual Show Owing to Advanced Season

Cancellation of the annual iris show, scheduled for May 26, on the grounds that owing to the advanced growing season in Victoria the superior blooms would be over by that time, was announced by the Victoria Horticultural Society at the regular meeting in the City Hall yesterday evening.

Members were reluctant to give up the display, but agreed that it was the only alternative in view of the early season. A proposal to set the date forward was declined.

E. R. Hall, B.S.A., of the Dominion Experimental Station at Sidney, was the guest speaker and dealt with the possibilities of frost-treatment or pollination and natural methods of cross pollination for the production of superior fruit of certain types was explained.

The speaker told of experiments carried on at the farm in the pollination of pear trees, and also told how it was possible for a tree to fall to produce fruit despite the fact that it might blossom heavily. The congratulations of the society were extended to Fred Landsberg, who recently marked fifty years' residence in Victoria. Mr. Landsberg is a member of the organization of long standing. Dr. A. G. Price and Lady Emily Walker, who for a considerable time have been unable to attend the society meetings owing to indisposition, were welcomed back.

Do You Know?

How the word "junkie" meaning milk curd for invalids had its origin?

Do you know that well-cooked, appetizing meals are served daily at Stevenson's. Afternoon teas are served between 3 and 5, with Punja Orange Pekoe tea and real cream. Try a Stevenson's freshly roasted chicken, roasted sandwich. They are different.

Ans.—"Junkie" the milk or curd from which junk is made was once strained through a basket made from the reeds from jomali rushes by the Baxon peasants. Thus the name of the basket was applied to the curd themselves.

Survey Starts On VocationsClassification of Available Labor in Province Undertaken By Economic Council

More than 120,000 registration forms of unemployed in British Columbia will be tabulated and categorized shortly when the Economic Council launches its vocational survey of the province as a foundation for employment finding plans.

This will be the first step in the survey, which eventually will extend to all workers, employed or unemployed.

Most of the data available exists in one form or another among departmental statistics, but much work is involved in classification of the types of skilled and unskilled labor available.

One of the chief places in which new information must be secured is in connection with the class of youths between the twenty and twenty-one years, who are now listed as "dependents" on the unemployed rolls.

Under the relief registration system the data is given dealing with the age, sex and last occupation of a family head or single person over twenty-one. In March there were 23,000 heads of families and 28,000 single people.

Since relief registrations have been all told, 12,714 of dependent families and single persons registered. Not all these, of course, needed relief at the same time and the figure does not include those who were dependent upon them.

These statistics, forming the basis for the vocational survey, will be gathered together shortly. The resulting information will then give direction for the work-finding efforts of the council.

Vancouver Province Wins Canadian Basketball Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

SOMETIMES a few inches in size is the difference between greatness and near-greatness in sport. Such is the case of Bryan Stoen, the six-foot, four-inch, 140-lb. player from Atlanta, Georgia, who has built up a reputation as the "Giant Killer of the Courts."

"Bryan's" case, while replete with ups and downs, has gained him glory and renown, is pathetic.

He is a scrawny little fellow, a fellow, playing his basketball in an effort to rouse such large ones as Frank Shields and Lester Stoen, and doing it, too! But "Bryan" finds the combination of both a little too much.

In last year's U.S. singles tournament at Forest Hills, for instance, Grant drubbed Stoen, the six-foot, four-inch, 140-lb. player from Atlanta, Georgia, who has built up a reputation as the "Giant Killer of the Courts."

Anyone with less intestinal fortitude than the mild-mannered Stoen, who has built up a reputation as the "Giant Killer of the Courts," would have found it difficult to stand up to the onslaught of the big, blustering Stoen, who has built up a reputation as the "Giant Killer of the Courts."

B.C. Champions In Soft Victory Over Nationales

Have Complete Command of Montreal Outfit to Register 33 to 20 Victory

Kennington And Macdonnell Star

Montreal, May 2.—The Montreal Sportsmen's Cup, emblematic of Canadian senior basketball supremacy to-day was ready to travel to western Canada, where it has been safely kept for the last five years.

Vancouver Province yesterday evening proved themselves worthy successors to a long line of great teams from the west by cracking down on Montreal Nationales to win the championship, three games to one. Their superiority was clearly demonstrated by the score, 33 to 20, and they well deserved their victory.

The westerners raced away with the first two games of the series, 49 to 42, on Thursday and 43 to 38 on Saturday, and appeared to be well away in the battle for the title. The Montrealers, however, were not to be beaten so easily, and with a display of blazing speed and aggressive play carried off the third game Monday 33 to 20.

Yesterday evening, however, a different exhibition was put on view for a crowd of 1,200, the smallest of the series. Out to clinch the championship, Vancouver pulled away practically from the start of the game and were in full sail when the final whistle blew.

Accurate shooting, the most potent instrument in their bag of basketball tricks, was the lever they utilized to squelch the easterners' challenge. A rain of shots on the baskets from all angles piled up a lead, 18 to 5, at half time, that enabled the Vancouverites to breeze through the game.

All the fire that put Nationales back into the series on Monday was absent and the Montrealers gave a display that looked weak against the smoothly-co-ordinated attacks of the Province boys. With Austin Red Macdonnell and Russ Kennington in the starring roles, Vancouver swept through the purple and white squall of nearly the full forty minutes of play.

While John Purves, tall centre, was top scorer for the British Columbians who succeeded another west coast team, Victoria Blue Ribbons, Macdonnell and Kennington were outstanding. The red-haired Macdonnell was a wall of strength on the guard line, and also roared around the Montreal basket to score six points. Kennington was the playmaker most of the time he was on the floor, practically the full playing time. Cliff Melville took the scoring honors for the Nationales with nine points and Johnny Schuler was again a strong defensive cog.

The first two minutes saw the only time when the lead changed hands. Before twenty seconds had gone by, Purves plunked the ball through the hoops for two points.

Patrick came back with a field goal and then a free shot to put the Montrealers ahead 3 to 2, but from then on it was a walk-away for the westerners. Nationales showed some form near the end of the first half, which ended with the Vancouver gang leading 18 to 0.

The Montrealers, playing with desperation, attempted to cut down the lead, but Vancouver interrupted the attack by twice calling time out. In the last five minutes, however, Macdonnell was eclipsed completely. When the British Columbians added six points and even tried to pave the way for a basket by rookie Ross Helem, getting into the series for the first time.

NORTON CROWE TROPHY IS NOT

Winnipeg Sports Writers Find Out That Trophy Has Never Existed; Winners of Outstanding Athlete Award in Canada Get Shields

Len'con, Ont., May 2.—A lot of people seem to have been fooled about this Norton H. Crowe Trophy, the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada's annual award to the outstanding athlete of the year. Only yesterday, Jimmy Ball, veteran Winnipeg quarter-back, who won the award for 1933, was wondering where it was.

Well, there just isn't a Norton H. Crowe Trophy. President Howard Crocker of the A.A.U. of C. made this known here yesterday evening. Three years ago the amateur body decided to make the award as a memorial to the noted sportsman.

Individual shields have gone to the three winners, Percy Williams, Alex Wilson and Ball. But there is no such thing as a trophy. The A.A.U. executive, Crocker, said, will meet at Hamilton on July 18 to consider a mounted medal, now being designed, for future awards.

The question arose when an admirer asked Ball in Winnipeg to have a look at the trophy, but Ball said he could not see it because he had not received it. Sports writers learned about the situation and immediately started to hunt to find out who had the trophy.

SPY HILL IN SPEEDY TURN

Mrs. Whitney's Kentucky Derby Entry Covers Mile and Quarter in 2.04 1-5

New York, May 2.—Demonstrating that he is ready to match strides with the turf's leading three-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Spy Hill turned in a sensational final workout yesterday at Belmont Park. He entrained for Louisville to-day.

Under the watchful eye of Trainer Bill Hampton, Spy Hill sent the son-of-the-English Derby winner, Spion Kop, over the full Derby route of one and one-quarter miles in 2:04 1-5. The time was only two and two-fifths seconds off the Derby record established by Twenty Grand, a stablemate, in 1931.

On the basis of the workout, Spy Hill will greatly strengthen the already powerful eastern contingent in training at Churchill Downs.

The Wheatley Stable's filly, Slapdash, eligible for the Preakness, stepped aside fastest six furlongs of the Jamaica meeting in winning the slotted Purse from three other three-year-olds of her sex.

The bay daughter of Stimulus completed the trip in 1:11 3-5, only two-fifths of a second away from the track record and one-fifth of a second faster than the time made by Sergeant Byrne in winning the Preakness Handicap, a race in which the Wheatley miss was beaten off.

Slapdash finished a length and a half in front of Victor Emanuel's Miss Merrimont, the 3 to 5 choice. G. V. Whitney's Elf Lock lost the place by five lengths, while Mrs. Payne Whitney's Babichick was last.

Zekiel, five-year-old son of Zev, 1923 Kentucky winner, racing in the colors of Frank Seremba, New Orleans, established a new track record in winning the Hagerman Handicap as the Chicago racing season opened at Aurora.

Zekiel ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5 to beat Plying Cadoff by one and one-half lengths. Captain Joy, five-lengths back, saved the short end of the purse.

Salmonbellies Capture Opener

Vancouver, May 2.—New Westminster Salmonbellies opened the 1934 British Columbia box lacrosse season yesterday evening with a 15 to 12 overtime victory over New Westminster Adanacs.

Three thousand fans saw Salmonbellies, who practically the same lineup as that which went down to Courtenay Tigers in the Dominion final last year, cut Adanacs' lead in the fourth quarter to 12 to 12 tie and go on to victory in ten minutes overtime.

Colombo Captures Newmarket Feature

Lord Glanely's Unbeaten Colt Scores Ninth Straight Victory in Two Thousand Guineas; Easton Second and Badruddin Third

Newmarket, Eng., May 2.—Lord Glanely's unbeaten colt Colombo to-day won the 126th renewal of the classic Two Thousand Guineas stakes. Colombo, hot favorite for the Derby, which he will meet much the same band of high-class three-year-olds, started at probably the shortest odds in the history of the classic.

R. B. Strassburger's French colt Easton raced into second place with the Aga Khan's Badruddin third in the field of twelve. Lord Howard de Walden's Blazony being withdrawn shortly before post time.

Colombo, trim son of Manna, a former Derby winner, out of Lady Nairne, was ridden by Johnstone to a one-length margin at the finish over the French horse, who in turn finished a length and a half ahead of Badruddin. King George was in attendance.

The champion, backed strongly to win the turf's mythical "triple crown" this season, started at record odds of seven to two on Easton was twenty to one against, and Badruddin fifty to one against.

Colombo recorded his ninth win in as many starts, seven of them being as a juvenile last season when his earnings of $85,000 were surpassed on the English turf only by those of Hyacinth, the Derby and St. Leger winner.

Lord Glanely's colt, hailed as the best English "racer" since the great King of the Turf, will be racing at a camp on Mooshead Lake, in Maine. The other race in the "triple crown" is the autumn St. Leger. Only ten horses in 150 years have won these three races together, outside of the war years, when substitutes were run.

Because Colombo entirely dominated the field, there was special place betting in which Easton was quoted at three to one and Badruddin at ten to one.

The race, first run in 1809, was worth approximately $40,000. It was run over the Guineas mile, compared to one and a half miles for the Derby and one and three-quarters for the St. Leger.

Colombo ran a smooth race and had plenty left to withstand a strong challenge by the French colt near the finish. France took the Guineas year ago with Princess Fauchevy-Lucinge's Rodosto, a son of Epinar.

The field was divided into two groups, Valerius, Piamenco and Colombo in order headed the inside racers with Bright Bird, Umidwar, Haytime and Easton in front of the outside.

After five furlongs Colombo was sent up in front, Badruddin going up into second place over Piamenco, Umidwar and Bright Bird.

Easton made a strong bid on the uphill stretch to the finish but Colombo held him off. Badruddin remained in third place with Piamenco fourth.

The winner's time was 1:40 flat, fastest since Cameronian's 1:39 2-5 in 1931.

CRONIN GOES TO HAMILTON

Brilliant Playing Coach of Winnipeg Gridgers to Perform With Tigers

Winnipeg, May 2.—Title hopes of the Winnipeg Canadian Rugby Club took a severe jolt yesterday with the announcement that Carl Cronin, chunky playing coach who marshalled the west's greatest bid for national senior rugby supremacy last year, would perform for Hamilton Tigers during the 1934 season.

The 160-pound pupil of the peerless Knute Rockne said yesterday he had decided to eastern advances presented periodically ever since he led his Winnipeg in valiant defeat against Toronto Argonauts last year.

What action will be taken by the Manitoba government will be determined by the decision handed down by the trial judge in the Silverman case, Hon. M. Justice P. J. Montague. Judgment was reserved.

PRIMO GIVES BARBER WORK

New York Tonsorial Artist Uses Two Chairs to Accommodate Heavyweight Boxing Champ; Camera Answers Boasts of Max Baer

New York, May 2.—Hiding coyly behind a four weeks' growth of beard, Primo Carnera slipped into town from the Maine Woods yesterday and marvelled largely at the wing storms his heavyweight title challenger, Max Baer, has been blowing up and down Manhattan's canyons.

"Ho, ho," he bellowed as he stretched himself across two barber chairs and called for a scythe and harrow, "so he call me a beeg boom, eh? I show him who's the beeg boom June 14."

Though he sought to hide his huge bulk behind two inches of bristling black whiskers, making him a more fearsome sight than ever, the Italian mastodon was trailed easily to the barber shop after he had failed to keep a date with newspapermen in Madison Square Garden.

"I no fight by talking," Primo puffed bullishly through a cloud of lather. "Who sees these Baer he can do so much? He knock out worn-out Schmeling. Paulino beat him. Loughran beat him. I beat him. Poof!"

Once denuded of the trailing arbutus, Carnera seemed in great shape after four weeks of roughing at a camp on Mooshead Lake, in Maine. His skin was brown and he looked even bulkier than his usual 275 pounds. He said he had not weighed himself while away. He went to Pompton Lakes, N.J., to-day and will start ring work there shortly.

PEDEN HURT IN PILE-UP

Victoria Rider Badly Burned in Toronto Bike Grind But Retains Lead

Toronto, May 2.—A spill in which Torchy Peden suffered painful burns failed to slow up the giant Victorian and, with Jules Audy, he was still leading the six-day bike race here to-day.

The teams of Charlie Winter and Frank Bartell, New York; and Roy Macdonald, Ottawa, and Freddy Zach, Switzerland, were tied with the leaders in mileage but behind in points.

Seven riders were involved in the spill. Florayanti Baggio, teamed up with Henri LePage after injuries forced Alfred Letourneur out. The latter went over the top of the sauce and was badly injured about the face. Zach suffered two broken ribs but continued in the race.

Standings follow:

TOURING HOCKEY Stars Back Home

Toronto, May 2.—Members of Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings, who made a barnstorming hockey tour of Western Canada, are at home to-day. They played six games on the tour, two at Winnipeg, one at Trail, B.C., and wound up with a series of three at Vancouver. At every station, the players said, they received an overwhelming reception.

Only a few of the Wings returned here, the others dropping off at their homes in the west.

The Leafs have been invited to make the trip again next year.

Midget Wolgast Is Held to Draw

New York, May 2.—Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia veteran recognized in some sections as world flyweight champion, and Lou Batta, Brooklyn, fought to an eight-round draw in an overweight bout at Coney Island yesterday evening. Each weighed 119 pounds.

After a slow start, Wolgast scored effectively with a lightning left and many ringsters thought he was entitled to the decision.

Giants' Hurlers Fall Down Badly

World Baseball Champions Will Have to Strengthen Mound Staff to Repeat; Hubbell Carrying Burden Alone; Yanks Whip Washington

Even though they are pounding the new National League ball in better style, it looks as if the world champion New York Giants might have to travel for a long rocky route created by pitching weakness to reach their goal of another National League pennant.

The Giants have run into two severe setbacks already this season. Roy Parmelee was rendered temporarily inactive by appendicitis and Hal Schumacher has not been able to touch his 1933 form.

The Portland rookie, Joe Bowman, was a starting pitcher yesterday and resulted in a victory which put the Giants near the league lead but it still emphasized the fact that the durable Carl Hubbell cannot do all the pitching this season.

Bowman got through six innings in fair style but weakened considerably later. Adolf Luque, who was sent in to relieve him, was belted out again, and finally Hubbell had to take the hill for the fifth time in twelve games to save a 10 to 9 decision.

CUBS BEATEN
Pittsburgh's Pirates stepped out behind Ralph Birkhofer's five-hit south-paw pitching and defeated the Chicago Cubs, league leaders, 4 to 1.

Pittsburgh in turn advanced to third ahead of Boston Braves, who took an 11 to 6 shellacking from the Phillies, who put together a dozen hits off Fred Frankhouse and Leo Mangum.

Burlingame Grimes won his second victory for St. Louis in as many days when two homers by Jim Collins gave the Cardinals a 3 to 2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

Cleveland Indians slammed Chicago pitching for fifteen hits, including four homers, and defeated the White Sox, 12 to 1.

The league-leading New York Yankees, however, provided the biggest thrill of the American League programme. Going into the ninth inning against Washington with the score tied, they belted three successive triples to earn a 10 to 5 triumph.

Detroit's Tigers came from behind, scoring two runs in the eighth, and held second place by beating St. Louis 5 to 4. Henry Johnson, making his first start, pitched the Red Sox to a 7 to 2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

WRIGLEY COMPANY PRESENTS HANDSOME SWIM TROPHIES FOR WESTERN STARS

Two handsome silver trophies have been presented by Wm. Wrighley Jr., Company Limited to the Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia sections of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association for annual competition, one trophy representing the women's one mile, freestyle, western, Canada championship.

The Canadian Amateur Swimming Association will hold its annual meeting in Winnipeg on May 12, presided over by H. E. Herschorn, Dominion president of the C.A.S. Invitations have been issued to the Winnipeg body to delegates throughout Canada, and this annual meeting, it is anticipated, will be a history-making event, bringing together a large gathering of amateur swimming officials at the same time that the first sectional championship, the Wrighley mile, will be staged.

Harold Daly, president of the Manitoba section of the C.A.S.A., has announced that the Dominion body has sanctioned the Manitoba section holding the following Dominion championships to be held at Winnipeg on May 10 and 11: Men's 220 yards, freestyle; men's 200 yards, freestyle; relay; women's 100 yards, freestyle; women's 400 yards, freestyle; women's 400 yards, freestyle; relay; and women's three-meter springboard diving.

In addition to these gala events, there will be the added feature of races, bringing together the best swimmers in the four western provinces, competing for the Wrighley trophies representing the men's one-mile western Canadian championship, freestyle, and the women's western Canadian championship, one-mile freestyle. These Wrighley trophies are for annual competition among the winners of the annual provincial swims, thus making it possible to bring together the best men and women swimmers of the west.

As the successful competitors came forward to receive their awards Major Ward congratulated them on their showing during the recent season, and wished them further success in the future. Refreshments were served during the evening by lady members of the club.

TWO REGATTAS ARE PLANNED

Shawnigan Lake Athletic Assn. Shows Progress; Heald Re-elected President

Special to The Times
Shawnigan Lake, May 2.—The twenty-fourth annual shareholders' meeting of the Shawnigan Athletic Association was held in the hall on Saturday evening. President S. J. Heald occupied a chair and gave an interesting report of the year's activities. In spite of the difficult times the association paid its way and in addition had paid off some of the indebtedness on equipment. The association serves a useful place in the community life of the district. The auditors report showed the affairs of the company in order. After deducting depreciation the assets of the association have a face value of nearly $10,000 and the outstanding liabilities, mainly on equipment, stands at $500. The board of directors number nine, three retiring annually.

A. H. Cox, Victoria, was re-elected together with H. E. Hawking and Frank Cullin. F. M. Gannon was re-elected to serve the unexpired term of the late D. O. Sullivan. A suggestion was made of change in policy and it was decided to call a meeting of shareholders to discuss this some time in May. A vote of thanks was given the directors and F. L. Watson, secretary, for their services during the year.

At the close of the meeting the directors met and re-elected S. J. Heald, president; Frank T. Elford, vice-president; and F. L. Watson, secretary. E. M. Walbank, A. I. Dyson and H. E. Hawking will act as finance committee, and S. J. Heald was re-elected treasurer.

It is proposed to hold two regattas this summer, one in July and one in August, with the J.B.A.A. assisting. A suggestion was made to try and arrange for a visit from the state of Washington eight-oared crews in competition with the J.B.A.A.

HAKE WINNER OF WALKING EVENT
London, May 2.—H. Hake of London yesterday won the annual London-to-Brighton walking race and beat the record set by Hammond in 1912.

THE Lone Wolf's Son

By Louis Joseph Vance

Of the four, Tess Boyce was the poorest player, although by no means to be despised, whether as partner or antagonist. Iquith preserved his patrician pose whether winning or losing, played with a cool-headed precision rarely met with outside the ranks of experts; in all the sitting Lanyard failed to see him fumble once or make a single misplay. The Rajah of Ladore, in whose suite the game was staged, had manifestly studied under the British masters till they had no more to teach him; only in respect of bidding was his game second rate. There the others had him at a definite disadvantage. The Boyce and Iquith were adept in the American technique, and Lanyard no less, thanks to the native card-sense which had enabled him to grasp at a glance its superiority to the methods in vogue all over Europe; while the Rajah was handicapped by acquaintances only with the bidding practice of the British, still, in that day, owing to the reluctant spring from auction to contract, at a stage of retarded development.

But the best cardmen could have made little of the hands the Rajah held. The ill run of luck that had been his the night before, to-day stood by him. Lanyard soon grew reconciled to the prospect of losing a rubber when the cut for partners gave him the Rajah. His own cards were nothing to crow about, even though strong enough, for all that, to enable him to hold his own and now and then score a gain. He was playing for the least of it. The table, a quarter past. The others, making their half a dollar a point at the outset, and carrying Lanyard, when they cut him, for the extra quarter, doubled their stakes at the Rajah's suggestion when he had lost his third rubber and, again at his suggestion, toward the end of the sitting, jumped to two dollars a point. Like many of his race, a passionate gambler, he was a poor loser. At first motion, he grew sullen, and toward the end angry. Many thousands down and still holding wretched cards, he cut for the last rubber in a temper that lent the atmosphere a tension distinctly unpleasant.

"I will make you a sporting offer, madame," he said to Tess Boyce, who was Lanyard's partner, while she was dealing the first round, "a round a point—I should say, five dollars."

"Not this baby!" Tess shook her flame-colored tresses, laughing. "I haven't got the wealth of the Indies to back me. Tell what I will do, though." She dealt the last card, and staked to the others to put off picking up their hands. "I'm mad about this stone." An emerald fleuretyl tapped a pigeon-blood ruby on the dark, small, royal hand. "I'll play you for that. What do you say? I'll bet everything you have to lose, to me, to Mr. Iquith and to M. Lanyard too, against that ring."

Uncle Wiggly was hopping along through the woods as fast as he could hop. In one pine tree the rabbit gentleman carried a piece of cheese and in the other paw was a flashlight. No, Mr. Longears wasn't going to camp out in the woods all night and eat the cheese for his supper. He was taking a wrong piece of cheese back to the store to exchange for a right piece.

The reason he was hurrying was because he was afraid the store would close for the evening before he could reach it. And as it might be dark on the way home, Mr. Longears took his flashlight.

"Oh, such a mix up!" sighed Uncle Wiggly as he hopped along faster and faster with his pine cone twinkling sort of sideways. "My wife sends me to the store for some cheese and I forget about it. But the Woodpecker hectoring me about it in the woods, said it might be cheese that was left over from the night before."

Well, it was right, but even after the Woodpecker helped me to remember because cheese sounds like sneeze, then I go and get American cheese instead of Swiss, which was the kind Nurse Jane wanted.

"Dear, dear!" said Mrs. Twistytail. "I don't know where they are coming to supper. But I do know that my wife and I are very fond of Swiss cheese. Well, I only hope the store is open so that I can change this wrong cheese for the right kind."

It was growing later and later and soon it would be dark in the woods. Not that Uncle Wiggly minded the dark. Anyhow, he had his flashlight.

"But the store may be closed when I reach it," thought the bunny uncle, trying to hop a bit faster. "And there is no other cheese store around here except the one kept by jolly old Mr. Rat. Oh, the nice supper my wife and Nurse Jane planned for the pig gentleman and his wife. I will be spoiled all because I couldn't remember to get the right kind of cheese—Swiss with the big holes in it!"

Well, it happened just as Uncle Wiggly feared. When he got to the cheese store it was closed and dark. "Mr. Rat locked up and went home some time ago," said a hooted lady who was jumping around in the grass. "Where does Mr. Rat, who keeps the cheese store, live?" asked Uncle Wiggly. "Maybe I can go to his house and get him to come back and open the store for me and change this cheese."

"Oh, he lives a long way from here," said the hooted lady.

"Then I wouldn't have time to go there," said Uncle Wiggly. "I don't know what to do. Mr. Rat and Mrs. Twistytail will have to eat this American cheese without any holes in it instead of the Swiss cheese filled with holes," sighed the rabbit. "Oh, dear!"

"What's the matter, Uncle Wiggly?" asked a voice in a tree in front of Mr. Rat's store. "What's the trouble? Did you forget the cheese?"

"No, but I got the wrong kind," answered the rabbit, looking up and seeing the Woodpecker or hole bird who had helped him remember the cheese. "My wife told me to get Swiss, but I got American. It has no holes in it, and Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail are coming to supper and—oh, dear!"

"Never mind. Don't feel so sad. I can make that into the right kind of cheese for you, seeing that the store is closed so you can't change it," chuckled the Woodpecker.

"You can! How? Do you mean to say you can change this American cheese into Swiss?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"Of course I can," the bird answered. "I am very good at drilling holes with my sharp beak. It is no trouble for me to make holes in hard wood—such as the hole in the tree I'm sitting in. You just make holes in Swiss cheese. Put the piece down on this flat stump and I'll start drilling."

Well, you would have laughed to see the red-headed Woodpecker making Swiss holes in that American cheese. It was soon done, however, and Uncle Wiggly gave the bird the piece cut out to make the hole. Then the rabbit, thanking the Woodpecker, hopped home just in time for supper. Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail were there and glad to see him. And at the table the pig lady said:

"This is the best Swiss cheese I ever had. Where did you get it, Uncle Wiggly?"

"That's a secret!" laughed the rabbit gentleman.

And if the pussy cat will let the canary bird fly around for a game of tag in the golden bowl, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's May flowers.
